A cord of three strands is not quickly broken. I As iron sharpens iron, so one man sharpens another. I A new command I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another. I By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you love one another. I Be devoted to one another in brotherly love. Honor one another above yourselves. I Let no debt remain outstanding, except the continuing debt to love one another, for he who loves his fellowman has fulfilled the law. I Accept one another, then, just as Christ accepted you, in order to bring praise to God. I I myself am convinced, my brothers, that you yourselves are full of goodness, complete in knowledge and competent to instruct one another. I You, my brothers, were called to be free. But do not use your freedom to indulge the sinful nature; rather, serve one another in love. I Be completely humble and gentle; be patient, bearing with one another in love. I Bear with each other and forgive whatever grievances you may have against one another. Forgive as the Lord forgave you. I Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly as you teach and admonish one another with all wisdom, and as you sing psalms, hymns and spiritual songs with gratitude in your hearts to God. I Therefore encourage one another and build each other up, just as in fact you are doing. I But encourage one another daily, as long as it is called Today, so that none of you may be hardened by sin's deceitfulness. I And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds. I Let us not give up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but let us encourage one another—and all the more as you see the Day approaching. I Now that you have purified yourselves by obeying the truth so that you have sincere love for your brothers, love one another deeply, from the heart. I Finally, all of you, live in harmony with one another; be sympathetic love as brothers, be compassionate and humble. I All of you, clothe yourselves with humility toward one another, because, "God opposes the proud but gives grace to the humble." I I This is the message you heard from the beginning: We should love one another. I And this is his command: to believe in the name of his Son, Jesus Christ, and to love one another as he commanded us. I Dear friends, let us love one another, for love comes from God. Everyone who loves has been born of God and knows God. I No one has ever seen God; but if we love one another, God lives in us and his love is made complete in us.
